

MA205 - Integral Calculus
Lesson 22: Motion in Space II

Problem Solving Problems

1. Consider Problem Solving Problem 1 from the previous lesson. Add to the scenario a wind component that is blowing horizontally, in a direction directly opposite to the direction of the projectile launch. How would you change the kinematics equations you developed in order to compensate for a wind component?