

Today in Math History...

-13 November 354

Saint Augustine of Hippo born.
He wrote, “The good Christian should beware of mathematicians and all those who make empty prophecies. The danger already exists that mathematicians have made a covenant with the devil to darken the spirit and confine men in the bonds of Hell.”