

Kip A. McCormick
Lieutenant Colonel, U.S. Army

LTC Kip McCormick is the director of USMA's Combating Terrorism Center and is an instructor in USMA's terrorism studies program. LTC McCormick received his officer's commission and bachelors of science degree from the University of Kansas in 1985 and his master of arts degree from the University of Kansas with study at Leningrad State University, USSR, in 1986. His assignments in the past 19 years include Chief of Staff, United Nations Command Military Armistice Commission, Seoul, Korea, where he was the lead negotiator for staff officer talks with North Korea's Korean People's Army at Panmunjom; Team Chief, Balkans Task Force, Joint Staff, Pentagon; Senior Military Intelligence Officer, American Embassy, Sarajevo; Intelligence Operations Officer, Task Force Freedom, Operation Desert Storm; and multiple tactical level assignments, to include military intelligence detachment commander, company commander, and senior intelligence officer (S2) in 1st Special Forces Group (Airborne), Ft Lewis, Washington. LTC McCormick is a Foreign Area Officer rated in Korean, Russian, and Serbo-Croatian. He has three children and is married to Linda McCormick.